- Solid operating cash generation in Q3 and strong balance sheet with 0.8x pro-forma leverage.⁴
- Completed $140 million of $400 million share buy back program in the period.

Kevin Murphy, Group Chief Executive, commented:

“Ferguson has brought forward its Q3 announcement as we delivered strong revenue and profit growth ahead of expectations. Our associates continued to provide outstanding service and support to our customers in the face of increasing supply chain pressures leading to product availability concerns. We were pleased with the strong earnings growth and margin expansion arising from continued operating efficiencies and pass through of acute price inflation as the US economy re-opens. We thank our 30,000 associates for their exceptional contribution to these results.

“Revenue picked up strongly through the quarter continuing into early May and we are pleased with the momentum in our business. Given the better than expected Q3 results, we are revising our outlook for FY2021 upwards as we expect to continue to outperform strong end markets in Q4. Based on our latest view of the operating environment we expect to generate Group trading profit in FY2021 (including the impact of IFRS 16) in the range of $2,000 million to $2,100 million.

“We are well positioned to manage through the near term though we are mindful of the ongoing effect of inflation on sales and gross margins and its potential adverse impact on operating costs. Looking ahead, we are confident in our strategy and we remain committed to investing in our talented associates, world class supply chain and digital capabilities to better serve our customers.”

1) The Group disposed of its UK operations on January 29, 2021. Pursuant to IFRS requirements, the UK results have been reclassified to discontinued operations and the prior year comparative results have been restated.
 2) Continuing operations only, excludes the impact of IFRS16. Adjusted EBITDA contribution from discontinued operations in the three month period to April 30, 2021, was $nil (three months to April 30, 2020 restated: $5 million loss)
 3) Net debt excludes lease liabilities. Leverage ratio utilizes a trailing twelve months adjusted EBITDA for both continuing and discontinued operations and excludes the impact of IFRS 16.
 4) Pro-forma leverage adjusted to include the $567 million cash flow impact relating to the interim and special dividends paid on May 11, 2021 plus the $260 million remaining outstanding on the share buy back announced on March 16, 2021.

USA

The US business grew revenue 23.3% which comprised 20.1% organic growth with acquisitions and an additional trading day each contributing a further 1.6% of growth respectively. Revenue growth rates picked up through the quarter as the prior year period was impacted by COVID related declines from April 2020. Inflation increased sequentially during the quarter and averaged approximately 5%. As expected, high commodity price inflation fed through into finished goods pricing as supply chain disruption arising from the pandemic restricted availability during a period of strong demand. We continue to use our strong balance sheet and world class supply chain to ensure the best fill rates for our customers.

Residential end markets, which comprise just over half of our US revenue, improved through the third quarter generating excellent growth. New residential housing starts and permits continued to grow well in the third quarter and residential RMI markets improved as vaccine roll outs enabled easier access to homes for trade professionals. Commercial markets improved overall and despite office and retail sectors remaining challenging there are pockets of strength in areas like data and distribution centers and increased activity in hospitality as businesses prepare to reopen. Civil markets also improved while industrial markets remained negative in the quarter against easing prior year revenue comparatives. There are encouraging signs that contractors are being allowed back into industrial sites as COVID restrictions ease.

Residential Trade and Residential Showroom customer groups grew well as our counter and showroom networks generated increased activity while HVAC continued to grow strongly, as did eBusiness which generated exceptional growth from strong residential demand. Commercial / Mechanical, Fire and Fabrication and Facilities Supply growth improved but continued to be restricted by more challenging non-residential markets. The Waterworks customer group grew strongly and Industrial revenue, while still negative, improved sequentially through Q3.

Underlying trading profit of $560 million (2020: $343 million) was $217 million ahead of last year.

Gross margins were stable and underlying trading profit was $13 million ahead of last year as the cost base was well controlled.
